

WIND AND RAIN JOIN TO SPOIL FINAL EVENING

Fireworks Set Pieces Blown Over, Steam Pipes Broken, But Carnival Crowds Happy Anyway

Rain and wind which set in before the water pageant was ended on Saturday night dampened the fireworks and the ardor of the crowd to such an extent that the display was largely a failure.

Starting with only a light sprinkle, the rain began by putting out lights here and there in the paper lanterns that sailed high on the various craft that sailed by, and increasing in volume finally drove people from their seats and sent them scurrying homeward.

Set pieces, representative of many hours of hard labor, had been previously blown over by the wind that arose with the rain, and only one of them—a brilliant replica of Kamehameha—could be displayed.

A great crowd of people attended this last event of the week of merriment, and many of them stayed through the entire display, despite the discomfort from the rain. It was a happy crowd, too, though the closing Carnival event was below expectations.

Brilliant electric lights on some of the boats, duller and richer ones on others, with red fire used effectively everywhere, made of the parade an inspiring event that brought hearty cheers and handclappings from the spectators that banked the wharves.

Leading the procession, the K submarines were dazzling in their electric lighting effects, and cheer upon cheer hailed them as they passed the respective sections of bleachers. The grand prize of the evening was given to the K-3.

Judges A. G. M. Robertson and W. L. Whitney and Dr. T. Katsunuma of the federal immigration station rendered decisions on the various boats.

First prize in the motor boat parade was given to the U. S. engineers, second to the minelayer; first prize on barges, O. R. & L.; second, custom house; first prize rowboats, Myrtle club, second Kaimalu, third Outrigger Club; first prize Japanese sampans, Tokai Maru, the only one entered.

Searchlights playing on hissing steam from boats stationed at the American-Hawaiian wharves were used to blast colors rich and rare, one of the most effective displays of the evening.

The sky rockets which were sent up were gorgeous, but owing to the fact that many others had been damaged by the rain, the spectacle came to be rather monotonous, and thus disappointing to the crowd that did not understand why so many of only one sort were fired.

One of the sampans which had been arranged to provide a main illuminating feature of colored lights playing through clouds of steam, inopportunely broke and this event was below expectations, too.

The various participants in the water pageant, however, deserve much credit for their industry and artistic displays. The four K submarines, with lighting effect produced by hours of labor, proved that the men of the fleet are ready to cooperate with Honolulu in making such occasions as the Carnival a complete success.

KING CARNIVAL VISITS CONVICTS AT OAHU PRISON

King Carnival paid a long neglected visit yesterday. Scheduled to leave Honolulu Saturday night, he hid instead, and early yesterday afternoon presented himself at the Oahu prison gate. All was ready for his appearance and for an afternoon and evening he made merry with the inmates.

Mrs. Isadore Scharlin, feeling that the prisoners deserved a little of the entertainment of which the rest of the city was having so much, arranged a musical and vaudeville program for Sunday afternoon and a moving picture show for the evening.

The Hawaiian band played in the afternoon and a number of vaudeville artists confined in the high sheriff's hostelry put on a few numbers. Pastries, supplied by the Alexander Young Cafe, the Sweet Shop and the Union Grill, and refreshments were served. Then there was an intermission.

Charlie Chaplin and other movie favorites made their appearance in the evening. Mrs. Scharlin has arranged an entertainment at the Liberty theater for the children of Kalihi orphanage, to take place Wednesday afternoon.

No restrictions are being placed on those who may attend. Former students with husband or wife, parents and friends will make up the gathering. It will be a meeting of those who are interested in Punahou to hear about the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration plans.

William T. Rawlins, president of the Punahou Alumni Association, will preside. The supper will cost 50 cents. This is not to be a business meeting. No funds are to be solicited.

EXPLAINS WHY HIS MOTORCYCLE MEN WITHDREW

Honolulu Cyclery Manager Says Track Was Unsafe; Willing to Race

D. C. Mitchell, manager of the Honolulu Cyclery, on King street, near the O. R. & L. depot, today declared that he will put at least two men into a motorcycle race at any time here where the track is known to be entirely safe.

This statement is the result of Manager Mitchell's action on Saturday in declining to let two motorcyclists riding Harley-Davidson machines under the auspices of his company, enter the races at Kapiolani park.

"I protested that we had been assured beforehand that the track would be safely banked and in good condition," he said, "but on going out there Saturday found that it was not. My men were willing to ride, but I felt that I would not wish to endanger their safety and their entries were withdrawn. Any time the track is in good condition they will race any motorcyclists in Honolulu."

"Although Joe Wolters made good time on Saturday, the condition of the track would not allow him to equal his fast records elsewhere, as will be shown by a comparison of the times."

BREAK CAMP AND RETURN TO POST AFTER CARNIVAL

Saturday and yesterday saw the big bodies of troops that were stationed in the city during the Carnival breaking camp and returning to their posts at Schofield Barracks.

The Field Artillery and the 1st Infantry also broke camp yesterday and returned home, the former making the trip by marching.

MEAT FAST DAYS IN RUSSIA.

LONDON, Eng.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Times states that the Russian ministry of agriculture has announced that it is necessary to order two meat fast days weekly to avert a depletion in the cattle stocks. Since the war began horned cattle in European Russia, totaling 40,000,000 head, decreased 25 per cent owing to the abnormal demands of the military and civilians, the announcement states. Two million heads, it adds, were lost through the seizure of Russian territory.
